Happens!

In the time it takes you to read this text, you could go to the computer, open a browser, type in www.DingHappens.com, watch Avish's demo video, read humorous articles, laugh at his "Funny Stuff Blog," read more testimonials, and see for yourself why

Avish is the perfect choice to open your event with energy and laughs or close it with excitement and motivation. What are you waiting for? Do it now!...Are you still reading this? Ok, so you must be a reader. Then you might like to know that Avish is an expert on improvisation and wrote a book on it titled, "Improvise to Success!" If you contact Avish about your event, he will even send you a free PDF version of the book. But you have to contact him now...Still reading? Really? Ok, then maybe it would help if you knew that the Philadelphia Inquirer called Avish, "The best Indian American Improvisational Comedian in Philadelphia." That may not sound like much to you, but Avish's parents were very proud. Besides, what has the Philadelphia Inquirer called you lately? My goodness, this text must be truly gripping if you are still reading rather than simply visiting www.DingHappens.com. Like a Dean Koontz novel, minus the horror and "down on his luck" protagonist. Which is fine, because Avish is not down on his luck — but your audience will be if you don't bring in Avish to speak to them! (Did you see what we did there? That's called a segue, and you gotta admit, it was pretty slick, right?) Still reading?! Boy, you are tough!

OK, then read what some of Avish's clients have said:

'Great Tone and Energy Level!'

"You set a great tone and energy level for the next 2 days of technical training and meetings. During those next 2 days many people were using the terms and concepts you presented to us about how change and how you choose to responds to it as well as the importance of having fun while you work. You gave us all a new, fun language with which to communicate and we had fun using it!"

"Finally, a professional speaker that knows how to truly engage an audience. Nicely done!"

— Will Farkouh, Wyeth Pharmaceuticals

"Very amusing and truly related to actual life. Fun and moving."

— Jennifer Scanlon, Regional Field Recruiter, Wawa

"Great Information and a lot of fun. Really drives the point by experiencing it!"

— Erin Bushnell, Penoni Associates, Inc.

Opening keynotes that get your attendees laughing, energized, and pumped to actively participate in the rest of the event.

Closing keynotes that tie your conference together and leaves attendees walking out the door "buzzing" about the entire event.

Tangible techniques your audience can apply the second they walk out the door.
